What you can offer:

- A passion for finance and capital markets
- A commitment to learning about renewable energy
- A willingness to immerse yourself in one of Primergy's finance transaction groups
- A commitment to leading an assignment in finance that will enhance your knowledge in one of the following areas: financial modeling and analysis, tax equity, or debt capital markets
- A keenness for cultivating new relationships within the Primergy team and developing your network in renewable energy

EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENTS

- Currently pursuing an undergraduate degree
- All majors considered; relevant coursework in finance, accounting, economics, environmental science preferred
- 0-2 years of relevant experience in project finance, renewable energy, investment banking, corporate development, or private equity
- Experience using excel for quantitative analysis
- Above all, curiosity and willingness to tackle any challenge

SKILLSET

- Unparalleled honesty, integrity, and work ethic
- Basic understanding of the tools of financial valuation: IRR, NPV, discounted cash flow analysis
- Ability to quickly step into new tasks and adapt to unique circumstances in a dynamic environment
- Successfully operate in a geographically dispersed organization is a plus
- Strong communicator and willingness to work independently and as part of a team across multiple cross-functional departments
